About OSCAR

As a district assessment leader, you may be interested in learning more about OSCAR, our Online Scoring and Reporting platform. We have had some great success stories with leading school districts just like yours, who are using OSCAR to evaluate and score constructed response items that require human scoring.

OSCAR is designed to put power and flexibility into the hands of the school administration, so you can manage your online scoring projects in the way that suits your specific needs. This has resulted in substantial cost savings for our customers and increased efficiencies and opportunities for professional development.

One of our customers recently brought all of their end-of-year assessment scoring activities "in-house" and their teachers are now an integral part of their scoring activities contributing to their regular instruction. On top of that, they have reduced their overall costs for performance scoring.
